

you may know that Natural Health offers substantial, widely believed, believable and scientific evidence for a very different view on germs, contagion, illness, etc. Many know this, but among them very few really get it. It makes no difference-- it won't be garnering any press at all!

Pandemic Panic – Urgent, Suppressed Realities

Some are saying that today's panic has beginnings in illness from big 5g tech connections. To be clear: its not that the tech causes Corona – it doesn't. But it does cause symptoms similar to illnesses from CV. The radical, scary illnesses in China, many say, were from their big 5G roll-out this year. Also the cruise ships had that. we're hearing other hard hit areas have the tech too; pretty sure Washington, Italy and maybe Iran are connected. Missing that fact and blaming all the sicknesses on the virus that appeared in 2019 helped trigger the panic. That, and the overblown media focus on fear, germs and disease, not the building of health has increased stress big time, making people way more susceptible to contracting illness.

Stress n

Technology Roll- Outs, Illness & CV

The symptoms of the first and most scary illnesses were seen in China, South Korea, cruise ships and now later in Italy, etc., were notably places newly connected with the new technology. That sickness was not specifically CV though the virus could also have been contracted by those with weakened immune systems from their exposure to the dangerous tech waves. But much of that early sickness was not Cv-- it was likely direct fallout from the frequencies beamed. Many early victims weren't tested with testing still scant or unreliable. And the Chinese known for truth- telling around what they don't want us to know. Regarding the technology and the true symptoms-- were talking about huge business and big companies also trying big time to hide just how dangerous it is to life. 26,000 scientists have already registered protest and been wholly blown off.

Electro -Magnetic Fields & Scientific Protest

Electro -magnetic fields are now being beamed all over our earth & even from space-- but their affects on the human body are almost completely un-studied. The field has been around since the first telegraph message. Still, degrees are offered in everything but that. You can learn anything the powers that be want you to know-- but this? Zip.

In the face of negative evidence on health impacts, in 2019 26000 scientists signed petitions opposing the upcoming rollout of 5 it is exponentially worse than any of the other frequencies because of its relationships and effect on air and water-- the very building blocks of life. They called for a moratorium-- a complete halt for further studies. They got zip..

A Viral Culprit

So now we have these initial tech- related diseases along with other illnesses from lowered response, including some with CV all thrown together. It ends up all being blamed on CV, causing a panic. That view completely discounts the biggest casualties from the dangerous technology released in that city in China. The CV had already shown up in the world by that time.* Media and medicine, who we turn to for answers, now takes the spotlight over, spinning out news and alerts like crazy. As always, they're focused on their own pocketbooks and growing their viewer base. Fear grows as other tech- connected and/or non -tech related illnesses pop up. Whose in line to profit here? Big medicine gains needed admirers and increased bucks down that line, while media hits a ratings jackpot and big tech gets a free pass for its new network roll-out.

* Some even say the virus was purposely released near the time of China's huge roll- out to cover the sicknesses they knew would come up. Also you may know that Natural Health offers substantial, widely believed, believable and scientific evidence for a very different view on germs, contagion, illness, etc. Many know this, but among them very few really get it. It makes no difference-- it won't be garnering any press at all!

Symptoms Compared: Tech -Related illnesses vs. CV

CV are strains of a cold virus and pneumonia related disease. This one is dubbed as 19, now is seen as causing all the illness in China and so on. But other than lowering resistance in people, which can lead to contracting illness including CV-- but of course 5G itself does not cause CV.

The common and foremost symptom in both the virus & the tech-related illnesses is acute respiratory distress. But the tech- related cases and some CV sufferers had dry cough, even while they gasped for breath. That's unheard of in most colds and pneumonia which are characterized by congestion, phlegm and a wet cough. And many with CV do have that.

The breathing issue with the new tech- related illness is likely because that particular frequency is known to directly interfere with oxygen, limiting its uptake in humans. Some sufferers were seen to have collapsed right on the street (you tube videos), suddenly ill after showing no earlier symptoms whatever. You don't see that with a virus. But we may never know the truth about any of it as the Chinese have locked all its sufferers out of the public view.

More About the New Technology

The new big deal wireless technology runs on 60 Ghz using millimeter waves, quite different from the Wi-fi. In promotional materials they're touted as a huge advance with "unique properties" around its relationship to weather (Read: air and water).

The first cases of illness (later called CV whether true or not) were in the city and district that launched a new pilot program for the dangerous wireless technology as well as where 1300 base stations were opened in in 2019. That same tech was also beamed to the ships whose occupants became sick and were quarantined. It's proudly touted as a beneficial connectivity feature in Cruise Line brochures.

The New Earth Orbiting Satellites

The cruise ships say in their brochures that they use MEO – Medium Orbit Satellites-- There are now 20 orbiting the equator to beam the new tech to customers. Its freely admitted on the site that the band they use impacts and is impacted by life's water & air, revealing that its the millimeter waves they're using, not the usual, far less dangerous WiFi frequencies.

Very likely there's a connection here to the control of populations (how perfect for dictatorships!) We knew the internet and so on could and would be used That reality may be bigger and closer and more dangerous-- for some of the most diabolical reasons-- than we know. And our health is now at stake in it all as well.

The Most Deadly Wave of All

Certain airwave frequencies are unlicensed and free. The most prominent company involved in the new tech says on their website that around satellites beam at 60 ghz (the most dangerous & protested one) over 90% of the globe. Being impacted & impacting both oxygen & water, it has serious, very different impacts from Wi-Fi.

The frequency run by the new satellites, etc. stands out as the very WORST for life. So why would the FCC choose to make that band free? Apparently it has some coveted surveillance or other benefits that some say fits into a larger, hidden plan that may well be the true global threat after all. Interesting, yes? The video link below tells why, and why its use requires its connection to this particular health hazard.

Don't- Miss, Fresh Video*

---> If you care at all about a future life, watch this brand- new, (quite different than the previously sent one) uncomplicated & eye- opening video. But to me its not all bad-- My own spiritual bent says the Higher Power may use this to help us get united-- and free-- if we're lucky and do our part. Video about this issue, electro -magnetic fields, what you can do, etc.

Human Respiration & Oxygen Uptake

The promotional materials on 5G freely admit that its millimeter waves have a very distinct effect on oxygen and water-- the 2 most needed elements of human life. Evidence shows they also affect human utilization of oxygen. Specifically the blood hemoglobin is altered and hindered in uptake of oxygen. Breathing is distressed as the body is starved of oxygen.

As shown in company promotional materials, 60 g is 98% absorb-able by oxygen, deeply affecting that element -- unlike ALL the other frequencies. The promo says it helps protect it from interference for a faster, more seamless user experience. Its known- to- be - dangerous impacts on human health and environment aren't mentioned in the PR.

More on Symptoms

*CV Sufferers Symptoms: 60% or more have respiratory symptoms, shortness of breath.
* Symptoms of Tech Sufferers: often include the breath issues plus arrhythmia (a symptom that stymied doctors who didn't know where it came from, not knowing that what they were seeing was illness caused by micro-frequencies, not a virus) Many had shock which can also come from problems with the circulation of oxygen. And many had acute cardiac injury which can be from a shortage of oxygen to the heart. Some had acidosis of the blood, seizures, fungus and/or mold, which is also not found with Cv or pneumonia.

Health & Environmental Impact Studies

Besically, there are no comprehensive studies on this. The E. P. A. and F. C. C., etc. studies are pretty much non-existent, leaving the industry to make up their whole game with no interference. And they too have done zero studies. But they do admit that 60 ghz waves are absorbed by oxygen That's just one major problem that we happen to know of. On one world leading satellite company's website it says they teams up with countries including the U. S. for services including connectivity, surveillance, Intelligence, and the like. That is, they're collaborating with governments, military, world leaders and god knows what. So fighting the push for this new technology-- even mentioning it on social media without being followed, stalked &/or censored-- is a monster.

It will take a whole lot of us and a lot of unity to fight it, the true world threat.

What if people never find out the truth of what big tech has caused or its severe impacts on our health? With all the money the companies have committed, that could easily happen. Then how long, we wonder, will all the pandemic/ health stuff continue, and what other aspects of life will it destroy?

As for the Pandemic, it may not be what we're told...

COVID Testing Skewed?

Testing issues and concerns will likely continue, wherein many hospitals, etc., are sending test samples to the WHO which some consider a possibly compromised entity as far as transparency, vaccine truth and the push for more vaccinations and greater compliance to its edicts.

With tests and results possibly suspect, skewed or compromised by moneyed interests, the medical mindset may also be skewing this (whether on purpose or not) to its own ingrained views, convenience and wallet.*

Medicine & Vested Interests

Have you noticed how today's fervor over the pandemic is cementing loyalties to big Medicine's industries whom not everyone sees as benevolent protectors?) Everywhere now people are mouthing stories that repeat what medicine and the media now are promoting. Are we inadvertently programming or further indoctrinating ourselves and others in the medical beliefs and practices that may well be responsible for the terrible state of health in the US and around the world. Belief and reliance on medical ways, its teachings and practices had been heightened in this crisis. Its set some of us to wondering... and you can bet it puts more money and more power into those hands.

Alternate Viewpoints & Suggestions

In natural health, disease is from toxic accumulations in the body. Illness is seen as right body action to clean out the toxins that impede the vitality. So when people get sick, in this view, its not attributed to a germ as much as the susceptible state of health or disease in the sufferer. So, in the eyes of natural healing in this period of quarantines and super- stresses, one who is sick may have gotten that way because of the changes and lower resistance due to the stress. Their body is initiating the illness as a way to expel the harmful build up of debris that hampers their health. The elimination may come through vomiting, mucous, diarrhea, fever, etc.

Instructions to rest and drink water stand true. Heeding the appetite's directives, eating less food helps the body to get its work done. If this is adhered to the body should triumph, though it may take longer than you may would have hoped. The problem is often exacerbated when medical treatment begins, Medicine sees the sickness as a threat to the organism rather than (as natural health says) the body's natural way to regain its vitality. Their solutions involve interfering with the wise healing process that are the body's own way back to health.

Follow- up Articles:

→ Stress, Disease Susceptibility, Pandemic Triggers & Alternatives

→ Health, Illness, Pandemics and Natural Health Perspectives

*This Article: Pandemic Panic: Suppressed Realities of Utmost Concern
A Must- read for life on earth!*
